present a
Family Christmas Play

The old woman

shoe cottage

Written & Directed by Yvonne &

January 2007

Directors' Message

We hope you all had a good Christmas and are looking forward to a happy 2007.

We have tried to do something a little different for our first production of the New Year. Rather than a traditional Pantomime, or even a play with a Christmas theme, (although the action takes place in the days leading up to Christmas), we decided on something more realistic. Even so we have included lots of songs and hopefully a few jokes to make you smile.

This is the first time we have directed a play together and so far we haven't had to consult the divorce lawyers.

So sit back, enjoy the play and join in the songs. If you don't know the words just take off your shoes and hum along.

About The Play

Agatha Sillie and her eight children are what her neighbours think of as the "Family from Hell" until they find out that things could be much worse. The Sillies have been tenants in Shoe Cottage for many years, but now a man from the council comes round to evict the Sillies. He is closely followed by the owner Rachel Shrew and her son Arnold. The neighbours euphoria at getting rid of the family are short lived when they discover the reason for the eviction and what they will have to put up with instead.

Arnold is smitten by Agatha's oldest daughter Millicent, but could she possibly be interested in a nerd like him?

The Shrews and the Sillies seem to be at daggers drawn, but then Willie Sillie hears something that changes everything.

The play takes place at the present time and the scene throughout is the front garden of Shoe Cottage.

The Nursery Rhyme

The lyrics to the popular nursery rhyme go:

"There was an old woman who lived in a shoe.
She had so many children, she didn't know what to do.
She gave them some broth without any bread,
Then whipped them all soundly and sent them to bed."

The Rhyme is very old and there are many versions, many quite gruesome, and there are also many opinions as to its origin.

The first of two suggested meanings is that it refers to Queen Caroline, wife of King George II, who had eight children. The second refers to King George who began the men's fashion for wearing white powdered wigs. He was therefore referred to as "The Old Woman". The children were the members of Parliament and the bed was the Houses of Parliament - even today the term 'whip' is used in parliament to describe an M.P. who is tasked to ensure that all members 'toe the party line'.

Incidentally, the wigs worn by women of the period were so large and unhygienic that it became necessary to include mousetraps in their construction.

LANCING REPERTORY PLAYERS

Lancing Repertory Players was first formed (with another name) over 70 years ago as a result of the local Women's Institute enrolling several husbands for productions. They were re-formed after the war and went from strength to strength, performing at the Luxor Cinema in Lancing (now a cycle shop). Later on, the move was made to the Parish Hall which, when rebuilt, formed what is now the Jubilee Hall.

Through their hard work the Players have established their own rehearsal room, wardrobe and workshop facilities in Lancing that are continuously in use preparing for the next production.

The Players are a very busy group, putting on four productions a year. That means that as soon as the set is taken down from one play, rehearsals start for the next, in fact of course the planning for a production has to be started long before the previous one is staged. Productions are staged at Lancing Parish Hall with support from local businesses with such things as transport and publicity.

Last year saw a wide variety of productions. Following the Christmas Play in January, A Magical Christmas, they staged "Five Blue Haired Ladies Sitting on a Green Park Bench" in April, this unusual and well received comedy certainly showed the versatility of our lady actors. Then in October, after very hard work by the actors, production team and set builders, we successfully staged an adaptation of Charlotte Brontë's "Jane Eyre".

This year's programme is already underway and full details are on the back cover of this programme.
